

Fly an L-39 Over Russia with one of the incredible pilots of Team Rus. Incredible Adventures will take you to Vyazma Air Base, where Russian Air Force pilots train to fly fighter jets.

Fly a Jet Over Vyazma - It's an Incredible Adventure

In a small town about three hours from Moscow, young Russian Air Force pilots train to fly fighter jets in the incredible L-39 jet trainer. Their instructors are members of the famous air show demonstration team "RUS" and are considered to be among the world's top L-39 pilots. Now, you can fly with one of these amazing men without joining the Russian Air Force. Add a Russian L-39 adventure to any MiG or Russian Zero-Gravity adventure or just fly at Vyazma. Either way, it's guaranteed to be an incredible adventure.

What's it Like?

"The weather was completely clear and the pilots decided they would take the three of us up at the same time. We were therefore treated to being in three aircraft doing a formation takeoff followed by formation flying, maneuvers and a chance to take the controls. This was a great flight, quite different from the MiG flight but no lesser experience, the scenery was amazing, the flying extraordinary. The return to Moscow via a Cafe for dinner saw us all comparing notes on the flights and enthusing about everything."

—Spencer, Jon & Danny

The Czech-made L-39 is known for its flying ability, reliability and the great visibility from both cockpits. The jet trainer is used by more than 30 Air Forces around the world.

Adventure Details

No pilot's license is required. Anyone over 18 and in reasonably good health can fly. Security clearance is required, and you'll need a travel visa to visit Russia, so advance planning is necessary.

Flights at Vyazma are available on weekdays, from March through November. Choose from thirty minute or sixty minute flights. Multiple flights can be completed in one day and friends can experience the thrill of formation flying for no additional charge. Our standard packages include transportation between Moscow and Vyazma, the services of our translator and lunch. You'll also leave the base with digital photos and/or video of your incredible L-39 adventure.
